Discuss the following quotes from Nathan Pruett:

"Believing in Jesus without letting Him be Lord of your life is like painting your doorposts and then remaining in Egypt."

"After leaving Egypt, God's people were in the desert for 40 years. Some days were amazing, like parting the Red Sea or seeing water come out of a rock...But most days they were just putting one foot in front of the other, following the pillar of cloud, and longing to reach the Promised Land."

What is the modern spiritual version of painting our doorposts with the blood of a lamb? How are we guilty of "remaining in Egypt"?

How long have you been following Jesus? How have you remained faithful throughout the daily grind?
